Business Challenges

The competitive marketplace puts pressure on companies to get products and services to market at a fast pace. Companies must be able to synthesize information quickly and distribute it effectively throughout the enterprise to successfully support sound decision making. Navigating emerging technologies and trying to determine which might be the best to implement is an enormous challenge with costly implications if the wrong choice is made.

Solutions Overview

Performance Reporting

To help clients gain a competitive edge, SAIGE offers web-based performance reporting capabilities that permit the sharing and delivery of consistent information across the enterprise. SAIGE's web-based reporting solutions offer decision makers better and faster access to their information, allowing a company to respond more quickly to the market thus gaining a competitive edge.

Document Management Portals

Security concerns and complex regulatory requirements have pressured organizations to not only acquire data but also to exert greater control over its flow and use. Often, data is stuck in silos and the people working with the data lack a common understanding of what it means and how it can be useful.

SAIGE offers document management portal solutions for enterprise applications and content management. SAIGE helps its clients transform their companies into more agile enterprises, where employees, customers and partners have the information, tools, and services they need to succeed.

Workflow Tools

SAIGE assists clients in developing campaign management workflow tools that allow organizations to coordinate resource planning and marketing messages, as well as share information across enterprise functions. Such workflow tools provide visibility across programs so marketing messages are not diluted or inconsistent. Gathering and sharing information throughout the enterprise drives robust search and reporting functionality.
